'AKRON' FIGHTING STORM AND POOR FLYING WEATHER

The World's Largest Dirigible Delayed On Its Trip West

BULLETIN

Washington, May 10—(AP)—Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl reported to the Navy at midday that the crossing of mountains in Texas by the Akron had been impeded by an "impenetrable line of thunder storms last night and zero visibility so far today."

The message said the Akron expected to cross the mountains at El Paso this afternoon by way of the Fort Worth-El Paso airway. The Commander reported that at 9:30 A. M., EST, shortly after the ship left Langtry, Tex., visibility decreased to zero due to low clouds which forced the ship to reverse its course previously set for El Paso. The ship was experiencing radio difficulties due to high static and the low power of the Fort Worth radio transmitter, he added. The Fort Worth station was complying, however, with requests for weather reports.

San Angelo, Tex., May 10—(AP)—Apparently having safely weathered a rain and electrical storm, the Navy dirigible Akron was reported proceeding westward toward El Paso this morning.

Harassed by the elements last night and early today in the region of San Angelo, the world's largest airship was thought to be heading to Randolph field at San Antonio.

But this morning the American Airways radio station at Dallas and the Department of Commerce station at Fort Worth, said they had established direct contact with the Akron and that it had passed over Dryden, Tex., about 5 A. M. (CST). This coincided with the report of a Southern Pacific railroad dispatcher in Los Angeles that the craft passed over Langtry, Tex., which is east of Dryden, an hour earlier.

The weather between Dryden and El Paso was reported good as the airship continued on to its Pacific coast destination.

Asked Landing Crew

One thousand San Angelo men were assembled in a driving rain and the giant airship after Howard Freed, World War veteran, said he had observed signals from the craft which he feared indicated she was in distress. He communicated with Randolph Field, the Army's West Point of the air, and he said a message came from the Department of Commerce office at Fort Worth asking that a landing crew be assembled. The crew waited until 2 A. M. (C. S. T.) when the airship was sighted over El Dorado, 50 miles southeast of San Angelo, heading in the direction of San Antonio.

On a flight from the Naval Station at Lakehurst, N. J., to the Pacific coast, the airship entered Texas yesterday afternoon. It left Lakehurst early Sunday, cruising down the Atlantic coast and west along the Gulf of Mexico.

Stransky May Be Chairman Of G. O. P.

BULLETIN

Springfield, Ill., May 10—(AP)—A contest was promised for the organization meeting of the new Republican State Central Committee this afternoon over the proposal that Republicans in Illinois take "the bull by the horns" and adopt a party platform on May 27, without waiting for the national convention in June.

Springfield, Ill., May 10—(AP)—

With May 27 already set for the Republican state convention, the party's state central committee met here today to organize and discuss other business.

Predictions were made the choice for chairman would fall unanimously on former Judge Franklin J. Stransky of Savanna, who has been endorsed by the gubernatorial nominee Len Small.

The committee members will try to determine whether they will adopt a platform at today's meeting or postpone the task until the national convention acts on one at Chicago, June 14.

Announcement of the date for the state convention was made last night by Col. Frank L. Smith of Dwight, its temporary chairman.

This Is Story Of Constrictor And How It Grew

Chicago, May 10—(AP)—Snakes that want to grow and get pickled might try Chicago.

A three foot boa found by a fruit dealer and delivered to the Chicago Academy of Science yesterday slipped out of the hands of Walter Necker, reptilian expert, and decided to hide among the stuffed owls and skeletons of prehistoric animals.

"We've lost a real constrictor," Necker told the janitor.

"They've lost a ten-foot boa constrictor," said the janitor as he ran up the stairs of a police station.

"There's a fifteen-foot boa constrictor loose in the building," Officer Axel Carlson told Officer Edward Nelson.

"There's an eighteen-foot boa constrictor loose in Lincoln Park," Officer Nelson told Police Telephone Operator Clifford Wheeler.

"A twenty-foot boa constrictor is loose in the park," Wheeler telephoned the newspapers.

Six policemen hurried to the scene. So did a group of news gatherers, but by the time they arrived the boa had been captured and pickled in alcohol by Necker.

FOUR ALLEGED KIDNAPERS ON TRIAL IN CHI.

Alleged Abductors of Chicago Couple To Face Prosecutor

Chicago, May 10—(AP)—The first trial to result from the many recent kidnappings in the Chicago area opened today with an attempt to get a jury that had not been influenced by the Lindbergh and other kidnappings cases.

Four men were charged with the abduction last December of Dr. and Mrs. Max Gocht of Chicago. In Illinois the maximum penalty for that offense is death in the electric chair.

Former Assistant State's Attorney Ward Swallow of Cook county, one of the defendants, reiterated today that he was going to "tell the truth" and a public defender was assigned to represent him. When Swallow's attorney withdrew from the case yesterday it was believed he intended to plead guilty and turn state's evidence, but Swallow said today his plea of not guilty would stand.

Judge Philip L. Sullivan addressing the first veniremen said, "We must meet the issue squarely. There must be no prejudice in the minds of the jury. There has been a great deal of publicity about kidnapping recently, especially about the Lindbergh case, but both the state and defense want jurors who will disregard all this."

Assistant State's Attorney Wayland Brooks, who prosecuted the murder case against Leo Brothers, charged with the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, and who is now Republican nominee for State Treasurer, led the state forces in questioning veniremen today.

The defense attorneys included Public Defender James Ryan for Swallow; Everett Jennings, representing defendants William A. Thomas and John Pingera; and James M. Burke, attorney for Edward Finnen.

Food Bargains In United States Vary

Washington, May 10—(AP)—If you are living in the right places these days you can buy food for about what your great grandparents used to pay.

The Department of Agriculture, making a survey of farm prices, discovered that though prices are down everywhere it takes special location to get the real bargains.

"In some states," it said today, "average prices are so low as to read like a price list for the year 1922 instead of for today."

Eggs in Texas can be bought for seven cents a dozen but they cost 22 cents in Massachusetts and 102 cents in the country's average.

Butter at the farm is 17 cents in Tennessee but 28 in Maine. Chickens at 9 cents a pound run around the North Dakota farms, but the Rhode Island and Connecticut farm wives are getting 20.5. The country average is 12.6 cents.

Lamb range from an average of 42 cents a pound in Texas and Montana to 7 in Maryland.

TRUCE DECLARED IN WASHINGTON FOR THE "PEEPUL"

Senate Agrees To Non-partisan Action On Economy Bills

Washington, May 10—(AP)—

From the three points of the legislative compass there came indications today of progress toward non-partisan action to bring new revenues into the Treasury and curtail expenditures.

President Hoover was heartened by progress on the tax bill, by the creation of a special Economy committee in the Senate, and by the adverse report by the House Ways and Means committee of proposals for full payment of the Bonus.

In the Senate, the special Economy committee was set up of members of the Appropriations committee to frame a non-partisan economy bill which leaders hope will accomplish more than $200,000,000 of federal economies.

On the other side of the Capitol, Acting Chairman Crisp of the Ways and Means committee told the House the action of his committee in favoring the Patman bill to issue two billion dollars of new currency to redeem the outstanding bonus certificates would so delay proceedings that it was unlikely a vote could be had before June 13.

If adjournment is had before the national political conventions, it must be taken before then.

Special Committee.

The special Economy committee set up in the Senate was headed by Chairman Jones of the Appropriations committee and composed of Bingham of Connecticut and Dickinson of Iowa, Republicans, and McKellar of Tennessee, Bratton of New Mexico, and Byrnes of South Carolina, Democrats.

The $200,000,000 of federal economies which they hope to accomplish has been declared by the administration necessary to make the billion dollar revenue bill balance the budget.

Hearings on the rubber imports tax, carried in the tax bill already reported to the Senate, were postponed to enable opponents of the levy to decide what they will propose to offset the revenue elimination of the tax would cut out of the bill.

The House was embroiled today in a controversy over a proposed reduction in the number of Army officers while the Senate resumed its debate on the Glass banking revision bill.

To Maintain Army

Representative Collins (D. Miss.) urged the House to cut the number of officers from 12,000 to 10,000 as an economy move. This was in flat opposition to the views of General Douglas MacArthur, Army Chief of Staff.

Before Collins spoke, the House Military committee summoned Secretary Hurley and MacArthur to testify in secret session on the proposed slash. Some of the committee members were bent on preventing it.

In the Senate, Carter Glass (D. Va.) defended a provision of his banking bill which would permit national banks to establish branches. He denied it would invade state's rights and charged that "the loop banks of Chicago hired some Congressmen" to defeat branch banking provisions of the McFadden banking bill when it was before Congress several years ago.

Modification of the 18th amendment to permit state liquor control along the lines of the Bratt system in Sweden was recommended to a Senate committee by John M. Morehead, American Minister to that country.

A little later Senator Bingham (R. Conn.) offered his four per cent beer bill as an amendment to the revenue bill. That assures a roll call vote on the issue.

MEANS INDICTED FOR LARCENY IN LINDBERGH HOAX

True Bills Returned Today By Washington Jurors

Washington, May 10—(AP)—

Gaston B. Means, self-styled intermediary in the Lindbergh kidnapping, was indicted today for larceny and embezzlement of $140,000 from Mrs. Edward B. McLean, estranged wife of the Washington Post publisher.

The District of Columbia grand jury returned two indictments charging the spectacular ex-con with a secret investigation by the Justice Department, following complaint by Mrs. McLean. Means' alleged misappropriation of the $100,000, the indictments charged took place on March 7, a week after Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr. was kidnapped. The $4,000 was obtained on March 18.

Government investigators are still working a substantial clue to what actually happened to the money.

Clergymen To Be Heard By Senate

Washington, May 10—(AP)—

Four New York clergymen who looked into conditions in the Kenilworth coal mine area today were invited by a Senate sub-committee to give their views on a pending resolution for a Congressional investigation.

The committee, headed by Senator Cutting (R. N. Y.) will take up tomorrow the Cutting-Costigan resolution proposing that a group of Senators go into Harlan and Bell counties where charges of terrorism have been raised by several eastern groups escorted from the area.

Telegrams were sent by Cutting to the following in New York: Rankin Barnes of the Protestant Episcopal church; Reinhold Nebel of the Union Theological Seminary; Cameron Hall of the Christ Presbyterian church; William B. Spofford, editor of "The Witness," an Episcopal weekly.

These four represented a committee of twenty-one pastors in an inquiry made recently after which they asserted a Congressional investigation was necessary.

In the message Cutting notified them the committee had no funds to pay their expenses but told them that if any wanted to be heard they would be given full opportunity.

The State's Attorney's office announced yesterday as the true bills were reported voted that it obtained evidence against them in connection with a drug store robbery committed before their conviction.

SUBURBS MERGE FORCES TO CURB CHICAGO BANDITS

Cook County Towns And Villages Organize Secret Police

Chicago, May 10—(AP)—Ninety Chicago suburbs, weary of fighting their crime battles alone, have pooled their law enforcing facilities and hung a new Damocletian sword over Chicago's harassed underworld.

Secretly they have organized a vast cooperative unit to be known as the Cook County Regional Police with the aim, leaders revealed today, of driving gangsters, hoodlums and racketeers out of the residential communities within the metropolitan area.

Quick and daring forages of criminals from city hideouts have brought a blight upon the peaceful life of the suburbs. Crime, transplanted from the gangland haunts of Chicago has been growing, the leaders said, and its growth has been fostered by lack of cooperation among the uncorrelated law enforcement agencies.

But as the new machinery begins functioning, the criminal whose pistol belches lead into a hapless victim or an underworld enemy will find every suburb of the county ready to block his escape as soon as the crime is discovered.

Major crimes will be flashed to a central bureau in the State's Attorney's office and relayed in an instant to all police departments. Localized crime operations will be broadcast to regional bureaus in northern, western and southern sections and the criminal records and personnel of one suburb will be available to all.

Secrecy admittedly shrouded the organization to prevent any efforts at control of the new unit by politicians.

Oasis Near Aurora Raided Last Night

Chicago, May 10—(AP)—Fifteen federal prohibition agents mopped up an alleged oasis for tourists at Montgomery, Ill., near Aurora last night and arrested five men.

It was the duty of two of the quintet arrested, the officers said, to take charge of automobiles while the patrons refreshed themselves at the roadhouse. They would drive the cars to some source of supply, load them with the required liquor and return the cars to the resort. It was located near state route 18.

Homer Welch, owner; Ray Anderson and Andy Condon, bartenders, and two men who took care of the automobiles were the men arrested.

In the kitchen of the roadhouse, the South Shore Cafe, was a trap door beneath which, when sprung, the agents found a room containing four barrels of beer, 100 gallons of alcohol and a quantity of whisky. In one automobile they seized 11 gallons of alcohol.

Young People's Conference Banquet: Rev. Fox Guest Speaker
The Young People's Conference banquet held last evening at the Christian church in honor of the Blue Side was one of the most beautiful held in the city for some time. Rainbow decorations of crepe paper streamers and maypole centerpieces, together with various colored lights gave the impression of the color and beauty of flowers on the table and palms at suitable corners of the room added the finishing touches. The young people who helped decorate spent hours of time making the place attractive and certainly deserve a lot of credit.
After a get-together song the invocation was given by Rev. J. A. Barnett. Following this the first course was served while all joined in singing several good-time songs and choruses. Chorus singing also took place between the first and second courses with Ray Harris acting as song leader. The menu consisted of:
Baked Ham
Green Beans
Mashed potatoes
Tomato Salad
Jam
Radishes
Hot Buns with Butter
Ice Cream
Cake
Coffee
The banquet was certainly delicious. If you don't believe it ask the Cantrells and Harries—but that is a secret.
Following the meal a program was given with Dick Choate, director of the conference work, as toastmaster.
Miss Frances Rossiter gave a most enjoyable and laugh producing reading "Digesting the Newspaper."
Following this a stunt, "Three Speeds" was put on by the "Tin Horn Players," a group of the young people. The following were the cast:
Herald—Randall Woolbrandt.
King—Lyle Myers.
Queen—Katherine Lehman.
Princess—Ethel Mae Rinehart.
Princess's Sutor—Albert Whitmore.
Misses Helen Finney and Mayme Schiefelbein sang sweetly, "There's a Rainbow Shining Somewhere," and "Mighty Lak a Rose." Roy Flannagan, the captain of the losing (Red) side, gave the first speech of the evening which dealt with the past and was entitled, "Some Rain Must Fall." Plus Burgard, captain of the Blue side spoke on the Present, or "At the End of the Rainbow." At the close of his speech Grady T. Cantrell, a guest all were proud to have present, announced that Plus had been his faithful chauffeur. Naturally this gave an added zest to the speech.
The future "Silver Linings" was dealt with by Rev. W. W. Marshall. And anyone who has heard his Scotch jokes knows that this was a treat. At the end of this speech he sat down only to arise again and announce that Mr. Burgard had a further word to say, which proved to be a few words in honor of the toastmaster and director, Dick Choate. He told of the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow which was undoubtedly waiting for Dick. There at the end of the rainbow decoration was the pot of "gold," a small token of the love and appreciation that the young people bear toward Dick for the work he has directed for the past six weeks in their midst.
The speaker of the evening who was presented by Rev. Cantrell, proved to be Rev. Fox, pastor of the First Baptist church in Freeport, Ill. His subject was "What is Your Color?"
Some of the main points in his message were:
"Wouldn't it be wonderful if we could carry the enthusiasm we have here tonight through life and stand for Jesus Christ."
"It's a great thing to be born once, a great thing to be born into a nationality but it is a far greater thing to be born again. It does not take much to start a thing, but it takes a great deal to finish it."
Then Rev. Fox developed the idea of what a true believer is and the difference in a believer and a disciple of Christ. He stated that a believer is one who has appropriated Christ's sacrificial death to his own life. A disciple

Referendum Move Before Methodists

Atlantic City, N. J., May 10—(AP)—The Methodist Episcopal General Conference probably will be asked to sanction a resolution for a national referendum on prohibition, but indications today were that it will be bitterly opposed when it comes on the floor for action.
The proposal has been the subject of a lively debate in committee for several days.
Colonel Joseph Shy, Chillicothe, Mo., attorney and an ardent prohibitionist, introduced a referendum memorial to the Committee on Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals.
He said he believed the prohibition question should be settled once and for all by a nation wide vote. He explained he did not expect the resolution to pass the conference but said the matter should at least be brought up for discussion.
Although he introduced the resolution, Col. Shy is not regarded as the sponsor of the idea, for it was already listed on the committee agenda before he filed his memorial.

Gunshot Wound Is Fatal To Convict

Indianapolis, May 10—(AP)—A gunshot wound inflicted Sunday night when he attempted to escape from officers proved fatal last night to George Lane, who escaped last April 5 from the prison stone quarry at the Joliet, Ill., penitentiary.
Lane's wife, through whom police traced him to a rooming house, visited her husband at City Hospital shortly before he died. With their four children, Mrs. Lane had been living at the rooming house but she disappeared shortly before police arrived.

BENNETTS RETURN FROM SOUTHERN INDIANA

Mr. and Mrs. John Bennett have just returned from a delightful motor trip through southern Indiana, the trip taking a week. They report the scenery in the hills in the southern part of Indiana at the present time a vision of beauty, blossoming fruit trees and shrubs against the green of the hills and the trees making a picture not soon forgotten. It seems that vegetation in that section is much in advance of Illinois, at least northern Illinois.

Picnic U. C. T., Aux., Lawrence Pk., June 11

Senate Ruled by Woman; First Time In Its History

Washington, May 10.—(AP)—Not even a tremor shook the Senate walls yesterday as that august and select chamber was ruled briefly and for the first time in its great history by a woman.

It was "Madam President" for the dignified representatives of the 48 states when Vice President Curtis decided to take a rest, and invited Mrs. Hattie W. Caraway to take his place on the rostrum.

Her rule was uneventful, with no difficult questions to settle and since one member held the floor throughout it was not even necessary for a Senator to address her by the strange title which was hers.

But Mrs. Caraway, by coincidence or design, made the occasion impressive. Soon after stepping down she announced she would seek re-election in her own right. In a surprise to the political leaders of her home state of Arkansas, she filed notice of her candidacy for a full six-year term. She is completing now the unexpired term of her late husband, Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway, after being appointed last November and subsequently elected in a special contest to serve until next March.

She faces big political opposition with six candidates in the field against her. Many of them are veterans in public office and distinguished in state affairs.

HAD DELIGHTFUL TRIP TO OZARK MOUNTAIN REGIONS

Mrs. John Edous and Mrs. Prescott Clark have returned from a motor trip to the south covering a week's time. They were guests at the home of Mrs. Clark's sister, Mrs. Fritz Yeager in Booneville, Mo., and visited at Kansas City, and Jefferson City and the Ozark Mountains. It is warm in the Ozark Mountain region now and the beauty of the green tree studied mountains beggars description. From a distance in the morning, the purple, blue haze gradually lifts leaving the green mountains, trees and flowers clear in all their beauty. On their return to Dixon, Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Edous were accompanied by Mrs. Yeager and Miss Helen Daniels, a niece who has been visiting there. Mrs. Yeager will visit at the Clark home.

Norman Dietrich's Birthday Honored

Last evening a group of friends called at the Norman W. Dietrich home, at the invitation of the lady of the house, who had a birthday yesterday. It proved a genuine surprise to him and a happy evening for everyone present. Games were played and a tempting luncheon was served. Mrs. Dietrich received a number of nice gifts with best wishes from his friends for many happy returns of the day.

Rolled Oats Fast Becoming National Food

Oats are tactfully termed "a grain cultivated as food for men and horses," but they are also described as "rich in protein, containing more fat than other grains commonly eaten." Such being the description, it may be presumed that for some time to come children still will be urged through the morning bowl of oatmeal, to the tune of "Pease porridge hot, pease porridge cold."

A few years ago several business men got hold of the oat meal industry and as a result rolled oats became the dominant breakfast dish of the American people. By advertising its virtues in the newspapers and other mediums and suggesting several different ways of serving with bananas or other fruits rolled oats is today one of the biggest sellers in the breakfast food line. Oat meal got off to a bad start when first introduced in this country as a gruel for invalids, but after being introduced as a breakfast food, and the true food values explained to the consuming public, the response seems to be unlimited. Editorials are being written how it is possible to live on a diet exclusively of oats and the harder vegetables, in these difficult times, also the fact that the housewife can serve oats in the form of oatmeal wafers, oatmeal cookies, as they did in the olden days in Scotland, is another incentive for the public to consume more oatmeal.

Following are these truly Scottish cookies and wafers, delicious and healthful, which will fit into the most modest menu without upsetting the budget!

Scotch Cookies

Two eggs
One cup of sugar
Two cups of rolled oats
One-half teaspoon salt
One and one-half tablespoonful butter

One-half teaspoonful vanilla
Beat eggs until light, add sugar and other ingredients. Drop mixture by tablespoonfuls in circles on greased pan. Bake in moderate oven until browned.

Scotch Wafers

Two cups rolled oats
Four cups ordinary flour
One-half cup sugar
Two tablespoons salt
One-half teaspoonful soda

Stir sugar and water until sugar is melted then boil, without stirring, until syrup spins a long thread from spoon. Add slowly to stiffly-beaten egg whites. Beat until cool. Chill. Add cream, whipped and vanilla. Color a delicate green. Fill small paper parfait cups with this mixture. Into the center of each put a soft cream mint wafer—plain or chocolate covered. Sprinkle top with grated unsweetened chocolate. Place cups in freezing tray and freeze about 3 hours. Serve in the cups. By Dorothy Kirk in McCalls for April.

SPRING DEMANDS A SPRINGY STEP

Do warm days make you foot conscious? Most feet need some spring treatment to withstand the hot weather successfully.

Exercise is one of the best ways to treat them right.

I have spoken of wriggling your toes whenever you think of it. Now try this. Stand in your bare feet, turning your soles so that they face as near outside as you can the inside of your feet. Walk about make them, resting your weight on this way. Of course it is awkward and you never in the world would be caught doing this exercise. But it strengthens the arch. And you need a good arch to give you a springy step.

Now do this same thing on the outside of your feet, facing your toes towards each other. Walk about several seconds both ways, morning and night.

Tip-toe about the room too. Harder to do but excellent is heel walking. You can only do it barefooted. Just walk about on your heels with your toes pulled up.

Before you do any of these exercises, try to imagine yourself a small child standing in some nice wet mud. Or sand, if you don't fancy mud. Wiggle your toes about and turn your feet this way and that, as you would if you were trying to get them both all covered with mud or sand. Then, stand on one leg and hold the other out and kick and kick until you would have kicked all the mud off, if there had been mud.

Rubbing your feet with salt is an excellent way to harden them against the heat of summer. Massaging them with cream is very soothing. Soaking them in hot soda water is fine. But be sure you rinse them afterwards in such cold water that they get hardened.

You can't be too thoughtful of your feet when spring comes. Reliable feet give you a good understanding for beauty.

Sale At H. S. Hicks' Famous Gardens

The Chicago Tribune of Monday, May 9th, has mention of the famous private gardens of Mrs. H. S. Hicks, of Rockford, of interest here because of the fact that Mrs. Hicks was a former Dixonite, and is a sister of Mrs. C. B. Fowler of Peoria avenue. The item reads: "Lake Forest board members of Druce Lake camp are boosting the sale at the famous private gardens of Mrs. H. S. Hicks, near Rockford, because all proceeds from the sales will benefit the camp. Spring in Rockford, which is just a two hour drive from Lake Forest is about 10 days earlier than on the north shore, so gardeners bent on replenishing their plots like the idea of a picnic lunch, a drive in the country and a shopping tour through the Hicks gardens."

BRIDES GOWN MADE ON GRECIAN LINES—

Washington.—(AP)—A bridal gown made on Grecian lines was worn by Miss Caroline Pittsburgh Morton when she married Calvert Brent Morgan. Her veil was caught with a rosepoint lace coronet. She carried calla lilies.

The matron of honor, Mrs. John Armistead Deming of Baltimore, wore pink suede lace and carried pink roses and blue delphinium.

PRINTED CREPE FROCK HAS FLOUNCE SKIRT—

Paris.—(AP)—The Comtesse de Jumilhac is among smart continentalers wearing printed frocks these evenings. One of her favorites is of pink and white printed crepe roman designed with a simple bodice and a long skirt finished with a wide bias flounce. The comtesse wears it with a little cape of crinkly brown ribbon which crosses in front like a fichu with the ends thrown back over the shoulders.

The Wesleyan Missionary Society of the Methodist church held its May meeting at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Forman, at the edge of town. There was a good attendance and all enjoyed the delicious picnic supper at 6:40.

Reports of the officers were read and other business transacted, the program being given after the meeting.

Miss Seals had the Foreign Mission topic and read a chapter on the village life in various mission countries as connected with the Christian village life of a New England town. A short play was given by Mrs. Sheffield and Mrs. Deutsch, to demonstrate the value of the magazine, "Missionary Friend," in creating an interest in this work. Rev. Gilbert Stansell gave a talk on the mountain white people of the southern states, drawn from personal experiences among those "quaint people," which proved very interesting and instructive.

During the evening Mrs. Roy Clingman had charge of a game which was amusing, "showing ourselves as others may see us."

ADVENTURE.

There is a pathetic touch to the story of the four little boys from New York's East Side who set out to sea on a homemade raft the other day. Police found them as they drifted down the East river. For their own protection the youngsters were ordered off the high seas. They are to be envied because they started, but pitied because there isn't anything that can be done to satisfy the buccaneering spirit that would like to chase a pirate and find some hidden gold.

The restricted areas in which a great many people must live today, due to the present economic system, do not provide much room for boys to go adventuring. Quite often there aren't any woods that they can people with Indians. There isn't a pond that can be magnified into something resembling the blue Atlantic. There isn't even a corner lot where they go to bat more dexterously than the heroes whose balls they follow wistfully on the sports pages.

When the spirit of wanderlust grew too strong the four youngsters chose a real river that led to a real ocean to do their voyaging. They didn't expect to find Singapore or Bagdad or Trieste. They were just names on a painted geography map. But they took it for granted that if you went down to the sea in a ship—even a ship made out of boards that were nailed together—something had to happen.

That streak of adventure, buried in everyone of us, never quite goes away. Most people wait, day after day, year after year, hoping that something will happen tomorrow, or the day after that. When it is too late they blame themselves because they didn't try harder to make it happen.

The New York youngsters are to be congratulated because they had the thrill of building a ship and setting sail. Most boys don't get that far today. The amateur seamen never reached the ocean, of course, but at least they can always remember that they started.

A REAL HERO.

Risking one's life in a brief and gallant gesture isn't half as hard as being consistently brave over a period of weeks. Perhaps this is why an unknown 12-year-old Eskimo boy is being acclaimed a hero today.

Not very long ago a sledge pulled into Wagner Inlet. Harnessed to it were two dogs and a sturdy, tired little boy. For weeks and weeks—so many he didn't try to remember them—the boy had pulled with the dogs. Under the blankets on the sled were a three-year-old boy and a woman who was dangerously ill.

The story the group told was very simple. When the Eskimo family had been left destitute at the death of the father, the boy had gone into the forests, hunting game and fish. One day he had too much meat for the dogs to pull. He fitted a harness to his own shoulders and helped to drag the provisions home. It was hard work. But he didn't complain. His mother, who had been ill when he left, was much worse. There was nothing to do but take his place with the dogs again and start on the 160-mile trip to the place where the nearest doctor had an office. For the last three days of the drive he had no food.

The boy didn't ask for any praise. His mother would live, he was told. That was enough reward for him.

The modesty of the lad, the fact that he did something brave merely because it was his duty, have attracted attention to him. It reminds us that the spectacular feat isn't necessarily the courageous one. It isn't so hard to rise to heights when the banners wave and the bands play. But to push through the northland, pulling with the dogs, racing against death, with nobody to know or care if you make it or if you don't that requires stamina.

THE FALL CASE.

Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior in the Harding administration, whose prison sentence has ended, is one of the outstanding examples of a prophet who has lost honor in his own country. Fall, a leader in the nation a few years ago, emerges from jail, branded as a bribe-taker. He has had honor and prestige in his day. But a single careless gesture lost them all for him.

We may talk of the flexibility of modern social codes but the fact remains that honor is more important than wealth or fame. Without it, the others are sounding brass, tinkling cymbals, just so much excess baggage. Loss of it, whether due to one's conduct or to the action of others, is probably the sorriest thing that can happen to a man.

There are no rich men in America today. We don't know where they stand. The highest type of riches, as personified in this country, has practically vanished, and they are afraid to look at their ledgers to see if they are worth anything.—Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate.

As an essential to company spirit, its property must be kept in good condition. — P. S. Arkwright, president, Georgia Power Company.

South Africa does not know the Boer War is over. The British and Dutch still conduct a lively feud.—George Bernard Shaw.

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY HAL COCHRAN PICTURES BY JOE KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

When all the tops had spun around, old man play cried, "Well, I have found that you all are in dandy shape. Now you can take a rest."

"I'll pack you in a box today. Then you'll be set to ship away. Upon a train you all will travel, either east or west."

"Hurry!" one of the tops cried out. "I'm positive there is no doubt that when I reach some little boy he'll be a happy lad."

"He'll spin me here and spin me there and I will like it. I won't care! Whenever I can make somebody feel good I am glad."

Said Scouty, "That's the spirit, top. Don't ever let your spirit drop." Then the other play man he exclaimed, "Say, let us help you pack. We'll do the best job that we can."

"Okay!" replied the old play man. "And I will gladly teach you any knowledge that you lack."

So, out came boxes by the score. The Tinies all worked hard once more. It didn't take them long to put the tops in, side by side.

The lids were put on with a sigh, as all the Tinies said "Goodbye." And Windy said, "I hope that all you tops enjoy your ride."

Woe Duncy had been silent for a time, but he broke out once more. "Gee! Have you any roller skates?" he asked the old play man.

"We'd like to try them out for you. Some fancy stunts we all can do. And, if you don't believe that, we can all prove that we can."

The play man smiled and said, "You bet! Some roller skates I'll gladly get." And very soon he brought them forth. The Tinies cried, "Hurray!"

They put the skates upon their feet. Then came a roller skating treat. "They work just fine," said Copy, as they started on their way.

"Okay!" said the old play man. "And I will gladly teach you any knowledge that you lack."

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—Whatever else Tom Hefflin impressed on those gentlemen of the Senate, whom he refers to as my "one-time comrades," his recent appearance to argue his election contest perhaps left no doubt in their minds that he is as great a showman as ever.

"Tom, you'll probably never get many people to agree with you, but you're the greatest showman in Congress."

He proved the truth of the latter part of this statement when he appeared before the Senate the other day to "tell the truth" about the Alabama election in which he was defeated. He seemed to forget nothing—not one of the tricks so much a part of him.

Of course the Hefflinesque style of dress—that long, black coat, creamy vest, black bow tie and prince-nez on flowing black ribbon—was in evidence.

DELIGHTS THE GALLERIES

But that played a minor part. It was the antics of "Cotton Tom" himself that delighted those packed galleries and human-lined walls of the Senate chamber.

Repeated raps of the gavel were necessary to restore order after one of Hefflin's cracks. Once Senator Moses, president pro tem, of the Senate, warned that if the spectators were not discreet he would order the galleries cleared.

The laughter was provoked when Hefflin referred to Black of Alabama as the state's junior Senator, completely ignoring Bankhead's claim. And at other times when his mimicry and old ability to tell funny stories to illustrate a point cropped up the galleries and Senators, too, were unable to restrain themselves.

Standing by the desk of Senator Swanson of Virginia, absent at the Geneva disarmament conference, and with papers laid out on the desks of both Ashurst of Arizona and Walsh of Montana, who were not present, Hefflin held forth.

He addressed himself almost entirely to the Republican side, turning now and then to look straight at Sheppard of Texas, who sat at his feet, or to wave in the direction of Black and Bankhead.

HE 'CARRIES ON'

It would be interesting to know just what the effect would have been had he finished when his allotted time of two hours was up. He had a goodly number of Senators listening closely until at Norris' request he was given permission to proceed as long as he wished.

Granting of that request—25 minutes before his time would have been up—seemed to have somewhat lessened the effectiveness of his appeal. Almost immediately Senators began drifting from the chamber. Members of the House who had flocked to the Senate in droves began to disperse.

Most of them knew by experience Hefflin's ability to talk indefinitely. They have seen him carry on for a long time when he appeared to be much more fagged than he did after those two hours.

If there be such a thing as a study of legislative psychology, then the House of Representatives of this 72nd Congress offers a rich opportunity to students of this subject.

Some workings of the congressional mind have been revealed this session with a clarity that both astound and puzzle. Those who in the past have prided themselves on their ability to foretell the future on Capitol Hill seem long since to have despaired.

One guess is about as good as another these days.

Let's go back for a moment to the time when the revenue bill "to balance the budget" was before the House. Charlie Crisp of Georgia, acting chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, stands out as a big figure in that fight.

There was never a time during consideration of that bill that Crisp couldn't still the turmoil and confusion in the House. All that he had to do was to advance to

HERO OF ALASKAN PLAGUE FIGHTS FOR LIFE IN DEATH VALLEY

Blizzard Victim Now Is Hermit of Desert Road

By NEA Service

Beatty, Nev. — The hero of North America's coldest trails is fighting for health and strength in the west's hottest climate.

He is Dr. L. E. Benson, born in Wisconsin and educated in Cincinnati, O. Out along the desolate road that leads across the burning waste of Death Valley to Las Vegas, Dr. Benson is seeking to rebuild his lungs, which were frozen during the exploit that won him a resolution of honor from the Alaskan legislature.

In 1928 a fierce epidemic of smallpox swept through the Eskimo colonies of northern Alaska. There was no medical help and meager supplies. If allowed to go unchecked the epidemic threatened to wipe out hundreds of natives and perhaps infect the centers of white population.

With a guide to help him, Dr. Benson traveled over 1600 miles of snow-choked trails and vaccinated nearly 2000 Eskimos and whites. The epidemic was completely checked.

At one time he was lost for three days in a blizzard. They had no tent and sought shelter with their dogs in snow caves that had to be changed frequently to avoid being buried.

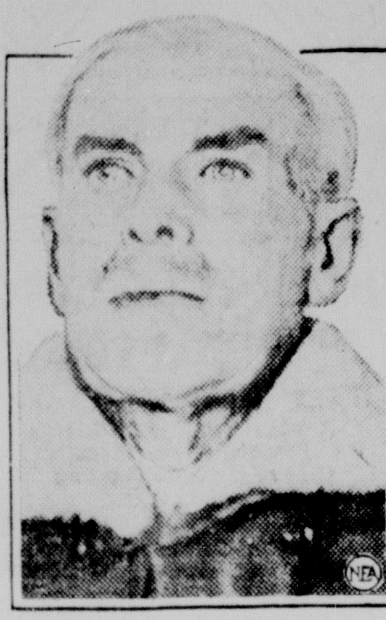

After the storm the temperature dropped abruptly to 80 degrees below zero. The little expedition pushed on, 500 miles north of Nome. Nearly exhausted, Dr. Benson collapsed by the side of the trail. He was unable to keep his mouth closed and took three or four gasps deep into his lungs.

"The air burned as though I had inhaled a flame," he says of the experience. He knew that the sensitive coating of his lungs had been bitten by the cold.

But he kept on with his work and in the end was voted awards by the towns of Candle, Deering and Buckman City. He was hailed as a hero but he knew that years of patient struggle for his health lay ahead.

At last he reached Death Valley, with its miles of chalk white sand and bleached out salt beds. Under the blazing sun and in the dry air he built a lodge where he is making his home.

It was Dr. Benson, who blazed the famous trail through the White Pass into the Yukon district in 1898. Nearly 13,000 settlers followed him into that Arctic land of plenty to struggle, starve and die.

HAWAII PUBLIC PROSECUTOR TO PRESS FOR TRIAL

Says Retrial Of the Four Accused Of Attack Will Be Called

Honolulu, May 10.—(AP)—How Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley, lacking the complaining witness in the case, would proceed May 25 with the scheduled retrial of four men accused of attacking Mrs. Thalia Massie, provided a subject for public speculation today.

With Mrs. Massie and those involved in the sequel to the attack case—the abduction and slaying of Joseph Kahahawai—on their way toward San Francisco, Kelley asserted he would proceed with the trial, Kahahawai allegedly confessed participation in the attack.

The prosecutor said he understood Honolulu police had been successful in their effort to serve Mrs. Massie with a subpoena for the attack just before she sailed Sunday. This contradicted statements of Clarence Darrow, Attorney and adviser of Mrs. Massie, who had said the subpoena had not been served.

May Ask Warrant

Kelley said if Mrs. Massie did not appear in court the morning of May 25 he would request a warrant for her arrest. The prosecutor acknowledged would have no legal force on the mainland.

The prosecutor said he had instructed policeman Lono McCallum, one of those who figured in the scene at the sailing, not to use force in attempting to serve the paper because "we want to avoid any further rows with the Navy."

Captain Ward K. Wortman, commander of the submarine base here who clashed with Dewey Mookini, another policeman seeking to serve the subpoena, said there had not been any "confusion" on the ship which bore Mrs. Massie and the others away. He said a corridor was so crowded he could not help bumping into Mookini.

CANTRELL MEETING

The Cantrell evangelistic campaign has entered upon its seventh week. The great religious interest aroused at the start has kept up throughout the past six weeks. Last Sunday night's crowd was one of the largest of the entire campaign, filling the large tabernacle to capacity with many standing in the aisles. The campaign has two more weeks to run, ending May 22.

Sunday school night will be observed again tonight. Each of the cooperating churches will strive to have present the largest percentage of its Sunday school enrollment.

ment. There will be several class delegations, also.

A day of prayer will be observed tomorrow at the Baptist church beginning at 10:00 A. M. and closing at 4:00. The six hours will be divided into twelve half-hour periods with a different leader for each period. Those interested and who wish to help in this prayer service may come and go at their convenience.

The evangelist has announced his sermon subjects for Friday night and next Sunday. On Friday night he will preach upon the "Sins of Dixon"; at 2:30 Sunday afternoon he will preach upon "The Signs of the Time and the Coming of Christ." At 7:30 Sunday evening he will preach upon "Lost and Still Living."

There will be special musical attractions at tonight's service. Ray Harris will sing a solo and Dick Choate will play on the xylophone. Services continue each night this week at 7:30.

Business today requires great care and intelligence in order to conduct it successfully.

Many business concerns must figure on slack periods and wake up too late.

Men who use brains and level-headed judgment have found out that modern business methods must be used in securing and keeping business all seasons of the year.

If they don't keep abreast of the times they won't be in business long.

Many business concerns must wake up to the fact that in paying nothing for advertising they are getting nothing back in the way of business, and are really paying a great deal in loss of business.

Quality goods well advertised build a reputation that assures success.

A business that is persistently advertised commands a worthwhile standing in a community.

The better a business is advertised the better it will be known and liked, because its advertising identifies it as a good place to trade.

OHIO GOVERNOR GETS INTO RACE IN TODAY'S POLL

Primaries In Buckeye State Mark George White's "Debut"

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Governor George White of Ohio steps officially into the Democratic party's presidential running today through the primary selection of his state's convention delegates.

Simultaneously West Virginia Democrats selected 16 delegates, confidentially counted for Franklin D. Roosevelt. In both states virtually the entire Republican delegate vote of 55 and 19 respectively, was assigned to President Hoover, although he stayed off the preference vote list. A party convention in Tennessee was expected to give him a solid 24.

Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma sought the preference vote in both states, unopposed in Ohio and in contest with Roosevelt in West Virginia. In neither case is the preference binding, however.

Yesterday Roosevelt built his list of pledged and claimed delegates to 345, taking six each in Wyoming and Arizona. His supporters received with pleasure a statement from Thomas F. Donovan, chairman of the Illinois Democratic committee that Roosevelt would get more than half of his state's 58 if and when Senator J. Hamilton Lewis' name was dropped from the roll call. Lewis is the state's favorite son candidate.

Supporters of John N. Garner announced that campaign headquarters would be established in Chicago this week on behalf of the Speaker of the House.

"Duck Stamps" Proposed As Aid To Wild Fowl

Washington.—A suggestion which has come to Senator Harry B. Hawes of Missouri, vice-chairman of the Senate Committee on Conservation of Wild-Life Resources, and which he presented to the recent annual convention of the Izaak Walton League of America in Chicago, may lead the champions of waterfowl out of their wilderness of uncertainty over the best method of financing the restoration of feeding areas for wild ducks.

Game men predict this suggestion that "migratory birds stamps" at a dollar or so each, to be sold through post offices to all hunters of migratory birds, may shoulder its way into this session of the Senate as a Wild-Life Committee bill. It will receive the backing of conservation groups which had previously could not get together on a federal financing program.

The stamp plan developed out of a preponderance of sentiment expressed by witnesses at the Senate committee's waterfowl hearings on April 4 and 5, and was almost unanimously approved by the Izaak Walton League convention at Chicago on April 22.

Officials of the American Game Association have been informed that in all probability the Senate body will present a bill looking toward a policy for the restoration of waterfowl, according to a bulletin of the association.

While the committee was not ready to say what its decision will be, or what form the bill would take, the announcement closely followed endorsement of the plan by the Izaak Walton League.

A big majority of the state game commissioners, sportsmen's leaders and others who testified before the Senate committee opposed the cent a shell tax bill applying to all shooters and urged direct contributions by the waterfowl shooters, claiming that only those who hunted waterfowl should pay to restore the birds. They agreed that a national program must be started immediately to restore wild fowl areas.

The proceeds from the adhesive stamps, costing either $1 or $2, for attachment to hunting licenses, after deduction of distribution costs be administered by the biological survey—about $1,000,000 a year for waterfowl habitat, $250,000 for law enforcement, and $250,000 for administration, surveys, experiments and investigations.

Tax Problems In This State

By M. H. HUNTER

University of Illinois.

19. Injustices of Personal Property Tax.

The extreme force which exists in the assessment of personal property, as revealed by the assessment rolls, would almost be humorous if it were not so serious. That wholesale evasion occurs is generally known, but the perversion of the situation lies in the fact that the evasion cannot be practiced equally by all classes of taxpayers. The personal property tax in Illinois penalizes the helpless, the ignorant and the honest.

Estates consisting of various forms of intangibles are frequently placed in the hands of trustees to be used for the benefit of widows and orphans. Such property is a matter of public record, easily ascertained by the assessor, and places no tax burden upon the trustee who is charged with its administration. Frequently the tax rate is such that from one-half to four-fifths of the entire income is taken in taxes.

Many people actually do not know the working of the personal property tax system. Imagine the feelings of a young college instructor with nothing but ordinary furniture, when, after taking inventory to the assessor, he finds his personal property assessment higher than that of the leading banker in his community, one of whose automobiles represents more value than the whole of the instructor's property. Or imagine the feeling of the school teacher when she discovered that she had been paying 4 per cent in taxes upon her savings in the bank upon which she was receiving 3 per cent interest.

Suppose a pastor came to you for advice. He had been left some 5 per cent mortgages the income from which was to be used to educate his children. The tax rate in his community was almost equal to the interest rate. He did not want to violate the law and lie to the assessor and take a false oath, yet to obey the law meant almost complete confiscation of income. It is not easy to advise under such conditions.

There is little but condemnation for the personal property tax. The actual burden is upon those who cannot afford to pay, is a penalty to those who would obey the law. To the great mass who evade the law, it lessens respect for law, debauches the moral sense, and weakens the sanctity of the oath. Tax reformers in Illinois should give serious attention to the elimination of the personal property tax.

Plan Clinics For Country Club Pros

New York, May 10.—(AP)—The Professional Golfers' Association plans to set up clinics in four sections of the country where pros will be able to find a cure for whatever golfing ailments may be impairing their usefulness.

STATE FAIR TO OFFER BIGGEST PREMIUMS EVER

Expenses Are To Be Kept
Down To Level Set
For Last Year

Springfield, Ill., May 10—(AP)—Illinois State Fair premiums for 1932, to be paid chiefly from funds collected at the licensed race-tracks, will be the highest on record, and expenses, paid from general revenue, will be kept down to the 1931 level, or about forty per cent below the cost in 1928.

The premium offerings for this year's fair, and the plans outlined for its presentation, approved by Governor Louis L. Emmerson and the director of Agriculture, Stuart E. Pierson, total $218,573—a sum amount believed to be the highest to be offered by any agricultural fair in the United States this year.

Of this total offering, $28,477.50 is to be provided by sources other than the biennial appropriation of $350,000 from the licensed race-track collections. Livestock breed associations will pay $7,977.50 of this amount, and the harness race purses are to be enhanced $20,500 by the future prize money, paid in by the horse owners and the Horse Review.

The breed association contributions are greater than before because two of the beef cattle breeds will stage their national exhibitions in conjunction with the fair this year. The national organizations of the Hereford and Shorthorn cattle breeders each contribute $3,333.33 or one-third of each of the two $10,000 beef cattle shows that are to be held here this year. Dairy cattle breed organizations, sheep and milk goat breeders, and the special prizes in the junior show make up the balance of the added money.

The total premium offerings, including the association special prizes, as worked out by the state fair management and the state's leaders in the various activities represented in the list, are announced as follows:

Beef cattle .....	$26,587
Dual purpose cattle .....	5,145
Dairy cattle .....	15,890

In addition to the national exhibitions of the Hereford and Shorthorn breeds of beef cattle, the American Jersey Cattle Club is to conduct its regional show here for the first time this year. This will attract interest from 12 North Central states. The association will award ribbons to the winners in all the open classes. The National Swine Show, returning for the 1932 state fair, will present added features by way of demonstrations in the use of all meat products.

Milton E. Jones, general manager of the state fair, anticipated that the reduction in the fair's income this year, due to the fact that admission fees and grandstand prices, other than for box seat reservations, have been cut in half, will be offset, to some extent, by an increase in the patronage, and that the economies developed during the past three years, will make up the balance.

Farming Factors

THE STORY OF SOYBEANS

By Everett E. Roquemore

Seldom is a new product quickly and generously adopted by a local or country community until the "newness" has worn off or until it has, through actual use or practical test, demonstrated its merit.

It makes no difference how successful the product may have been proven in distant areas; the average person usually maintains a "show me" attitude and courageous indeed is he or she who casts precedence aside and is the first to adopt a new article which has not been "popularized" in the locality where it is being introduced.

It was 300 years after the introduction of the potato into Europe before its use became general. When bathtubs were introduced they met with much opposition, many claiming that the bath tub was merely an expensive luxury which could be afforded only by the rich.

The automobile, the radio and dozens of other items, now considered in the class of semi-necessities, had to pass through a trying introductory period. Through the process of education the barrier of lack of confidence was gradually broken down and general public acceptance took its place.

And so it is in the United States, today, soybeans are passing through the introductory stage. True—in many localities soybean products have already "arrived." Thousands of farmers for instance are feeding soybean oil meal to their livestock and poultry as the protein supplemental part of the rations.

Today, more than ever before, feeders are greatly interested in reducing the unit feed cost of their products to the lowest possible level and at the same time holding production up to a profitable basis. More milk, more meat, more eggs—at a minimum feed cost per gallon, pound or dozen—that is the goal of aggressive dairymen, poultrymen, beef and pork growers today.

It is quite impossible to increase the selling prices of finished products; therefore the cost of production must be lowered, it at all possible.

The cost of production can be lowered only by carefully studying the factors that contribute to the "cost dollar." These principal factors are labor, housing, overhead and feed cost. Assuming that labor, housing, depreciation, taxes and interest on investment are now reduced to a minimum, the only remaining factor of importance is feeding cost. How can this factor of feed cost be reduced?

First, it is nearly always wise to feed as much home raised material as possible. Second, because home grown feeding materials lack certain proteins, vitamins, carbohydrates, fats and minerals, which are essential to life, growth and reproduction—the wise feeder supplements his farm feeds with one or more ingredients which supply these essentials or in other words, he adds a "balancer."

This situation offers wonderful possibilities for the utilization of soybeans, since soybean oil meal is a very economical source of protein. When adequately fortified with essential minerals, this concentrate supplies most efficiently and most economically the nutrients lacking in farm feeds. It is very palatable, easily digested and assimilated. All farm animals like it.

Of much significance to farmers is the fact that each ton of soybean oil meal utilizes the output of two average acres of American grown soybeans.

W. F. PRIEBE'S
WEEKLY LETTER to
POULTRY RAISERS

Las February and March I explained to you that the very low prices on eggs were due to the fact that the winter production of fresh eggs was coming into competition with storage eggs.

I said that as the season advanced and the storage eggs were out of the way we would see a better condition.

There is evidence that this prediction is coming true and I am pleased to see things working out this way. The market value of eggs is increasing gradually and I believe that by the first of July good eggs will be worth more than they were last year.

And in view of the fact that everything we purchase—particularly food and clothing—is lower than it was last year, the egg money will go farther.

Keep Up the Quality of Eggs
Eggs have been selling at almost unbelievably low prices in the cities. People have gotten into the habit of eating them. Any sudden advance in price would immediately cause fewer eggs to be used.

So that when the price is advanced very slowly people don't notice it so much and there is no decrease in the amount of eggs used.

So as I see it, the situation in the egg market at present is more encouraging to the farmer than it has been for a considerable time.

The important thing now is to keep up the quality of the egg so that there will be nothing to hold this price back.

You can't get a good-sized, full-bodied egg unless the hens have the feed they need to manufacture eggs. Too many farmers have neglected their flocks and as a result many of the eggs are small and the quality is poor. Some of them will hardly "stand up" until they reach the market. With the price working up now, buyers in the cities are very critical of the quality. They are demanding good eggs.

Sell Eggs Twice a Week
If they are to have good eggs, they must be sold before they are "wilted." An egg is two thirds water and as that water evaporates the egg wilts, just like an apple wilt.

The shell doesn't wrinkle like the skin of an apple does. So most of us don't stop to realize that an egg can "wilt." But when anyone who is experienced in candling eggs turns one in front of the light he can tell if it is wilted just as you and I can tell when an apple or a flower is wilted.

To keep eggs from wilting gather them often and keep them in a cool place. Then sell them twice a week while they are still fresh. Help your produce man to get a good price for eggs. Sincerely yours,

W. F. Priebe

New State Records
Made In Dairy Test

Urbana, Ill., May 10—(AP)—A new state record and possibly a national record for efficiency of production was set by a record number of cows enrolled in Illinois dairy herd improvement associations last year. They averaged 8,373 pounds of milk and 3,204 pounds of butterfat, according to the annual report of dairy herd improvement association work released today by the College of Agriculture of the University of Illinois. The report was compiled by C. S. Rhode and J. G. Cash, dairy extension workers of the college.

Records reflect the effort on the part of dairymen and farmers to meet existing conditions, insofar as possible, by improved efficiency of 10.3 pounds of butterfat a cow over 1930 and reductions in feed cost, return from each cow above cost of feed lacked $18.02 of equalling the return for 1930.

The 62 associations operating in 1931 was the largest number that the state has ever had. Likewise, the 1,349 members and the 26,402 cows established new high marks. Rhode reported. The associations are sponsored by the extension service of the agricultural college as a means of furthering efficient and profitable dairying practices.

Value of the work to the 1,349 members is indicated by the fact that it was worth an average of $195 a year to 207 of the members who replied to a question on this point. The range in the yearly value placed upon the work by herd owners replying was from nothing to $988. On the basis of an average return of $195, the work in 1931 was worth $40,499 to the 207 replying dairymen. Their investment in membership dues and other association expenses was approximately $10,764, giving them an interest return of more than 276 per cent on their money.

VISIBLE GRAIN SUPPLY
New York, May 10—(AP)—The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes: in bushels: wheat, decreased 2,779,000; corn increased 479,000; oats decreased 852,000; rye increased 49,000; barley decreased 156,000.

4-H MEMBERS OF LAND ELIGIBLE FOR NAT'L. SHOW

More Than $5,000 Has Been Offered As Big
Project Contest

Chicago, Ill., May 10—4-H livestock club members throughout the nation are eligible to compete for more than $5,000 in county, state, sectional and national prizes to be awarded in the third annual National 4-H Meat Animal Livestock Project contest, it is announced by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

These awards for America's most outstanding junior animal husbandmen are offered by Thomas E. Wilson, livestock breeder, packer, and chairman of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

Any 4-H Club member regularly enrolled in one or more meat animal livestock projects; namely, baby beef, purebred beef animal, market pig, breeding hog, market sheep or breeding sheep during 1932 under the supervision of their state extension service is eligible to compete. The project records and the general club record of contestants will be the basis on which awards will be made.

A gold-filled medal of honor will be awarded to the highest scoring club member in each county of the United States. From the records of county winners, state club leaders will select their state winner. Each state winner must have completed three or more years work in meat animal livestock club projects. The state award is a $50 gold watch.

The winning 4-H livestock club member in each of the four extension divisions of the United States will receive an educational prize trip to the Eleventh National Boys and Girls 4-H Club Congress, which is held annually in conjunction with the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago. Winners will be selected from state winners within each division.

Three national scholarship winners will be selected from these four trip winners by a committee of state club leaders. During the week of the National 4-H Club Congress, Mr. Wilson will award a $300, $200 and $100 agricultural college scholarship to the national winners in the order of their rank. These final awards will be made at his annual banquet in honor of the delegates to the National 4-H Club Congress.

More than 90,000 farm boys and girls will compete for the attractive prizes being offered in this contest to encourage 4-H club activities in meat animal livestock club projects.

APPLE PROSPECT
GOOD: PEACHES
HAVE BEEN HURT

Illinois Crop Marketing Statistician
Makes Report

Springfield, Ill., May 10—(AP)—Apple prospects in Illinois are fair, but the peach outlook is very poor, according to Arthur P. Holt, statistician of the marketing division of the state department of agriculture.

From investigations in orchard counties, and from reports obtained from growers, Superintendent Holt has formulated the following general observation of the 1932 fruit and outlook:

"The peach crop as a whole will be a disappointment—about one-tenth of last season's commercial production.

"The most serious feature of the peach situation is that the Elberta trees, which represent perhaps nine tenths of the commercial acreage, will bear but little anywhere within the state this year. In some sections, a fair set of fruit is found in the Elberta orchards, but some spots are rare.

"The less prominent varieties, such as the Hales, Redbirds, Early Elbertas and Captain Edes, have bloomed right well, particularly in the Centalla section. The fruit belt around Marion and adjacent counties has reported better prospects for peaches than the Union county territory. This is attributed to the presumption that the trees in the northern part of the fruit belt, had not advanced so far as those in the Ozark country at the time of the March freeze.

"A general report of the apple crop prospects shows a spotted condition. Of the early apples, there is a fair bloom of the transplants, but the dutch trees are not so promising. The low temperature in March damaged the red and golden delicious buds, and the Jonathan blooms indicate about half a crop."

The marketing division, anticipating the demands for shipping point inspection service, is in readiness to issue certificates of grade and quality in the Godfrey asparagus movement as soon as the weather brings production up to carlot quantities. Small shipments of asparagus have been moving from that section, and from the truck garden sections further south for some weeks.

The bulk of the strawberry movement, from Illinois growers, will probably be somewhat later than usual this season. This is due to the fact that in the extreme southern end of Illinois—Pulaski, Massac and Alexander county—strawberry acreage has been reduced. There has been an increase in the area devoted to this crop in counties farther north, notably in Marion county and in Edgar county, according to this season's observations.

Valve Of Farmers'
Exports Falls Off

Washington, May 10—(AP)—The farm value of American agricultural exports in the last fiscal year, 1930-31, was $696,000,000, the smallest in more than ten years. The value was $1,216,500,000 in the preceding fiscal year.

The Agriculture Department reports that exports last year represented 7.4 of the gross income from farm production against 10 per cent the previous year, and a high figure of 17.4 for the 1919-20 season.

Exports of cotton, lard, pork and hams, wheat and flour, and unmanufactured tobacco constituted about 85 per cent of the value of all agricultural exports, but cotton was the only commodity which showed a large percentage of production sent abroad in 1930-31 than in any of the previous four seasons despite larger than average production.

Costly Shrinkage
In Corn Is Traced
To Soil Condition

Urbana, Ill., May 10—Shrinkage of corn between the field and market, which represents a considerable loss on the nine million or more acres of Illinois' principal crop, can be much reduced by growing the crop on productive soils or by making the soils productive with suitable treatment. This has been established as a result of studies which Dr. F. C. Bauer, chief in soil experiment fields, and other investigators of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, have made on a large number of soil experiment fields located in different parts of the state.

Highly productive soils of the corn belt section of the state produced corn of such quality during the past four years that only 73.3 pounds of ear corn at husking time were required to make a bushel of No. 2 shelled corn. On the other hand, on some of the dark soils in northern Illinois, 81 pounds were required. They gray, flat soils of southern Illinois were still less efficient, 98.8 pounds being required on these soils.

Thus, farmers with soils like the first group would have to take from the field about 105 bushels of corn, in the second group 116 bushels, and in the third group about 130 bushels for every 100 bushels of No. 2 shelled corn they took to market.

In other words, the farmer in the first case must husk an extra bushel to cover shrinkage for every 21 bushels he hauls to market; the farmer in the second case an extra bushel for every 6 that goes to market, and in the third case an extra bushel for every 3 taken to market.

Soil treatment was shown to be a big factor in reducing shrinkage loss. On soils in the first group that is those in corn belt section of the state, use of manure reduced the pounds required to make a bushel of No. 2 shelled corn to 71.6 pounds, or a reduction of 1.7 pounds from what it was with no treatment. This was enough to reduce the shrinkage loss to 1 bushel for every 42.5 taken to market.

In the second group of soils the pounds of corn required to make the equivalent of a bushel of No. 2 shelled corn at husking time was reduced from 81 pounds without treatment to 74.7 pounds with a treatment of manure and limestone. This was enough to reduce the shrinkage loss to 1 bushel for every 15 taken to market. On the gray soils of southern Illinois a treatment of manure and limestone reduced the pounds required from 98.8 pounds to 76.6 pounds. This was enough to reduce the shrinkage loss to 1 bushel for every 7 taken to market, which is in marked contrast to 1 in 3 without treatment.

Dairy Dispute In Chicago Area Ends

Chicago, May 9—(AP)—The dispute between dairy farmers and Chicago retail milk dealers over a proposed cut in the wholesale price of milk has been ended, and under the terms the farmers will continue to get $2.01 a hundred pounds of milk and consumers here benefit by a retail reduction of one cent a quart.

The adjustment was announced Saturday by Dr. Clyde L. King of Philadelphia, who was called in as arbitrator, and ended talk of a strike on part of the farmers. They had threatened to withhold their Paris—A s Jim Duncan lies in a hospital still in serious condition from self-inflicted bullet wounds, his French wife and their three children pray for his recovery.

It doesn't seem possible that he could do it, for Jim was still a brave man and cheerful. His feat of winning the discus throw for the United States in the 1912 Olympic games, his war service and his kindness in writing to thousands of American mothers about their boys, dead and living, made him beloved by many.

But his devoted wife, whom he married after the war, and their three children, Jacqueline, 6, James, Jr., 4, and Donald, 2, have had to accept the hard fact that he died to die. They are still hopeful, though, that he will get well and regain the happy disposition for which he was noted.

Since the war Duncan had been guardian of the Graves Registration Service, stationed at Suresnes cemetery, near Paris. Just before he shot himself he was notified that he was to be transferred to the larger Thiaucourt cemetery, in a lonely section. In the years he was at the former cemetery he had corresponded with many American mothers whose sons slept under product from the market if the cut became effective.

The retail dealers had the wholesale reduction necessary to help them lower the price to the consumer. They agreed, however, to shoulder themselves any loss that may grow out of the retail cut should wage cuts accepted by their employees prove insufficient to cover it.

The new price per quart will be 11 cents, effective tomorrow.

TODAY

ANNIVERSARY

ITALY AIDS FRANCE

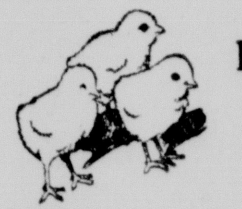

On May 10, 1918, it was announced that 250,000 Italian troops had been concentrated in France to swell reserves of the allied armies against the German offensive.

This drain on Italy's forces was said not to weaken the Italian front which, at the same time, was preparing for a threatened Austrian push.

British troops succeeded in restoring their line at Albert, which had been broken by Germans the day before.

Roumania dissolved its Parliament, and new elections were ordered. In Hungary, too, politics were getting the front page. A new cabinet, headed by Dr. Wekerle was formed.

CROWDED!

In four weeks baby chicks grow to 5 and 6 times their original size—but the brooder house doesn't get any bigger.

Then folks begin to wonder what is the matter with their chicks: "They don't seem to be doing so well any more."

And very likely the cause of all the trouble is the fact that the birds are crowded.

Crowded chicks don't have room to grow. They are stunted. And they get diseases easily because they are in a weakened condition.

And then what happens?

THEY DIE off until they are down to the number there is room for in the house.

You don't want that to happen in your flock. So let's see what can be done about it. You could sell some of them, of course, and we'd rather have you do that than overcrowd them. But we think you will make more money on them if you can keep them until they weigh 4 or 5 pounds. So we'd like to see you do it. You can if you—

MAKE MORE ROOM FOR THEM. Probably you have some place that could be cleaned out and fixed up with little or no expense.

Just so it's clean and well ventilated. That's the important thing. Disinfect it and put in some roosts and some windows (if it doesn't have enough)—then you'll have room to keep your chickens until they grow to a profitable size.

The pullets should be separated from the cockerels as soon as possible, anyway.

If you give the birds plenty of room they will be healthier and grow faster.

Mr. Poultry Raiser:

This is one year that we have to figure feed cost. We can help you with that problem by using Globe Growing Balancer. Globe Growing Balancer is a special prepared feed to be used with your home grown grains. One hundred pounds of Globe Growing Balancer and two hundred pounds of good yellow corn ground fine will give you three hundred pounds of real growing mash at a cost of about $1.15 per 100. Are you having trouble with Coccidiosis this year? If so change feed immediately to Globe Chick Control Mash which contains the required amount of milk to control Coccidiosis.

Globe's New All Mash Starter is Going Fast at $2.00 per 100 lbs.

It contains plenty of Butter, Milk and Cod Liver Oil which helps to make a good starter

Home Run? Oh Baby!

When the 12th baby made its appearance at the home of John Peet, Ashtabula, O., ball fan, the supply of names ran out. So when No. 13 came along Papa Peet named him after Dick Porter, a member of the Cleveland American League ball team, who hit a home run the day the baby was born. When the season opened this year Baby No. 14 arrived.
The christening was delayed until the first homer. The Indians went into a slump until Fielder Joe Vossnik hit one. But there already was a Joe in the family. Peet went to the game every day. Then Earl Averill connected. So now Peet is holding Dick Porter Peet, right, and Earl

Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER
Byran Downey returned to the ring the other night in Cleveland With a left to the body and a right to the chin, he floored one Gregory Eminian, sprawled upon the fallen wrestler and pinned his shoulders to the mat.

DIXON WON ITS FIFTH MEET BY CLOSEST SCORE

Mt. Morris Tracksters, R. R. Champs, Fall Before Locals

By DON HILLIKER

Coming out on the top end of every meet entered thus far in the season the Dixon high track team travels to Freeport on Saturday for the state sectional. The locals won a close one Monday for their fifth consecutive win when Mt. Morris, Rock River Conference champions, were defeated 65-57. The decision resulted from Dixon's victory in the half mile relay.

At the conclusion of the individual events the score stood 60-57 to Dixon's advantage. The 880 yard relay was off with Condon giving Talty a yard lead. Things evened but when Strong finished his 220 he was five yards ahead. Ogan remained in front to breast the string for a 139.7 half mile.

Out of the fourteen contests Dixon won only five and had one tie for first. Seconds and thirds kept them within striking distance while Mt. Morris was grabbing the leader's honors. The five firsts were just enough to put Dixon on top.

Ogan was the heaviest point-maker on his 33.4 score. He won the shot put, javelin, broad jump, second in the discus and ran on the relay crew. Strong gave Dixon a total of 12.4. Zellers and Longman were the most outstanding visitors.
Zellers won the 200, 220 and 440 er, leaped to the platform, and put his hands under his man to keep him from sliding to the canvas again. The act constituted a foul, which made three times in all that Downey had won the fight in that memorable seventh round.

Jimmy Dunn, manager of Downey, rushed around and pulled Killilea away. There was Wilson, hanging helpless on the ropes like a shirt on a clothesline, and Downey pumping away at him with lefts and rights.

Only the ropes, close to the corner post, held Wilson upright.

A FRIEND IN NEED

Then Garner stopped the fight.
Most of the spectators, believing that Downey had won by a total knock-out, cheered.

But Gardner signaled to the commission that he had awarded the bout to Champion Wilson on a foul!

A riot followed. The ring was filled with cheering spectators pummeling Gardner. A score of police finally cleared the platform, and newsmen asked Gardner
the grounds for his decision.

"I gave the decision to Wilson," Gardner declared, "because Downey hit him when he was down."

You have to hand it to Jimmy Gardner at that. He went "all the way for a pal."

Baseball Gossip

By GAYLE TALBOT

Associated Press Sports Writer

It hasn't taken Carl Reynolds long to convince his new employers, the Washington Senators, that they drove a very brisk bargain when they obtained him from the Chicago White Sox in one of the winter's most discussed deals.

The speedy outfielder, who joined the Senators in a trade involving the two veteran pitchers, Sam
Jones and Irving Hadley, is in no small measure responsible for the fact that Walter Johnson's outfit is leading its closest American League rivals by three full games
today.

He is hitting at a 420 clip, the highest average in either league is second in total hits, notwithstanding his late start, and is as brilliant as ever afield. If he hold his present pace, he might easily make the difference between the pennant the Senators want and the third place they won last year in the league.

Was Whole Show
Reynolds virtually was the whole show offensively as Washington won yesterday's opener from Cleveland, 3 to 0. He scored the first run off Wes Ferrell in the seventh, when he singled, eased his way around to third and went home on an infield out. His home run in the next frame with Joe Cronin aboard settled any doubt of the issue.

Lloyd Brown continued to pitch sparkling ball for the leaders although only four hits and walking three. The victory was Washington's ninth in ten starts.

Three other American League contests gave way to rain and cold.

The St. Louis Cardinals put on the day's best act in the National League when they scored three times in the last of the ninth to hand the Brooklyn Dodgers their fourth straight defeat, 7 to 6.

With one away, the champions jumped on old Jack Quinn, the Brooklyn relief hurler, for four hits to turn the tide Jimmy Collins single, his third hit, scored Sparky Adams with the deciding counter.

Reds Won In Ninth
Something similar was seen at Cincinnati, where the Reds pushed across a run in the ninth to down the Phillies, 4 to 3, and break up a pitcher's duel between Owen Carroll and Ed Holley. Wally Gilbert's sharp single brought in his old Brooklyn playmate, Babe Herman, who had doubled. Another ex-Dodger Ernie Lombardi, also starred at bat for the Reds with a home run and a single.

Fritz Knothe's single in the twelfth knocked two runs across and the Boston Braves staggered out with a 6 to 5 victory over Pittsburgh, their first in five starts in the west. At that, it took three pitchers to put down a Pirate rally in the last of the twelfth inning. The bases were full of Pirates when Cantwell nally retired the side.

The Giants were rained out at Chicago.

BULLETIN
New York, May 10—(AP)—Barring an unforeseen accident the Kentucky Derby winner, Burgoon King, will start in the Preakness at Pimlico Saturday, his trainer, Dick Thompson, said today.

New York, May 10—(AP)—H. J.
(Dink) Thompson, trainer of Col.
E. R. Bradley's Burgoon King, will decide definitely tomorrow whether the Kentucky Derby winner will go to the post in the Preakness at Pimlico Saturday.

Thompson will work Burgoon King at the Preakness distance of a mile and three-sixteenths tomorrow and then will decide whether the horse will be shipped to Maryland for Saturday's rich classic.

Stablemen at Belmont Park said the colt had stood the trip from Churchill Downs well and appeared in good condition.

WHAT WATCH DOGS
Portland, Ore.—Forty-two dogs, some of them watch dogs, were quartered in the Rose City veterinary hospital—but it didn't do any good to have them there. Two men, unmasked, walked into the hospital, stroled past the dogs, and held up Dr. G. Huthman and an assistant, taking $40.

A gas mantle contains thorium oxide, which is radio-active. The radiation emitted by the disintegrating thorium atoms affects the photographic plate, and a likeness of the mantle occurs.

The kangaroo rat is distributed over most of the arid regions of the United States and Mexico. Its name come from the resemblance of its hind legs to those of the kangaroo. And, like the kangaroo, this rat uses its legs when fighting.

TOO MUCH RUSH

Indianapolis, Ind. — Mrs. Ellen Todd was seeking a divorce in Judge Clarence Weir's court, and she urged her lawyers to hurry the case, explaining that she had to go to a hospital. Fifteen minutes after the divorce was granted, Mrs. Todd appeared at a marriage license bureau and applied for a license to marry Edward W. Miller. She asked the clerk to hurry, again saying she had to go to a hospital. The clerk, however, looked into the case and found the judge had not even signed the divorce decree. ## Last Tribute Was Tendered Noted Explorer

Washington, D. C. — The American Ambassador to France, Walter E. Edge, was designated to represent the National Geographic Society at the funeral in Paris, on Monday, May 2, of the noted explorer, Georges-Marie Haardt, who died in Hong Kong, China, March 1, just after he had completed his remarkable crossing of Asia by motor.

Maynard Owen Williams, of the staff of the National Geographic Society, only American member of the expedition, flew from China to Paris, by way of Baghdad, Damascus and Marseille, to be present at the last rites of the expedition leader.

M. Haardt won fame as an explorer by three noteworthy expeditions — the first crossing of the Sahara by motor, and most recently, his 8,000-mile trip through the least-known areas of Asia, by a caravan of specially-built tractor-type motor cars.

His expedition, known as the Citroen-Haardt Trans-Asia Expedition, was composed of two motor units which worked toward Sinkiang (Chinese Turkestan), the isolated center of Asia, just west of the "roof of the world" nucleus of mighty mountains in the Pamir.

Leader Haardt accompanied the Pamir unit, of seven light tractor cars, which left Beyrouth, Syria, April 4, 1931. Two days later the China unit with seventy heavy

The Pamir unit progressed across Syria and Iraq, to Baghdad, thence steadily climbed through the mountains of Persia and Afghanistan, long a forbidden land to the alien and reached Srinagar, capital of Kashmir, June 24.

North of Srinagar loomed the precarious Gilgit trail, linking northwest India with Sinkiang, and native traders traversed the cars reached tiny Pamir towns where no wheeled vehicles had been seen before. There it was found that heavy floods and land slides had wiped out the slender mountain trails ahead, and the expedition finally had to abandon its cars, and proceed by animal pack, until its members met the Chinese unit at Askaniya.

Thence it moved eastward across the Gobi Desert, and through the bandit-infested western China, to Peiping.

The expedition experienced extremes of temperature from 16 degrees below zero to 120 degrees above. It scaled mountain passes, nearly 14,000 feet high, that never before had seen a wheeled vehicle. It obtained some 35,000 feet of motion picture film, 7,000 photographs, many in natural color, some in areas which have not been visited since Marco Polo's time, 1,500 specimens, and much valuable geographic data of the least-known regions of the "mother continent."

M. Haardt was in Washington in 1930 to address the National Geographic Society on his journey through Africa; and was there again before starting on his Asiatic expedition, to confer with officers of the Society, which cooperated in the crossing of Asia.

Upon arrival in Peiping leader Haardt was informed that he had been awarded a Commandership in the Legion of Honor for his achievement, while the Society's representative, Dr. Williams, and two other members of the expedition were made Chevaliers of the Legion of Honor.

High officials of the French Government, and representatives of French scientific societies also were named to pay honor to the last rites of the explorer.

SUSAN CAREY, pretty secretary who is in love with BOB DUNBAR, has a proposal of marriage from BEN LAMPMAN, penniless young musician. She refuses him. Ben is jealous and several weeks later when Susan agrees to marry ERNEST HEATH, her employer, Ben shoots at Heath, then turning the gun on himself. Meantime DENISE ACKROYD has informed Bob that Susan is going to marry Ben. Ben's condition is serious and Susan is distressed. Bob tries to find her but can not. Susan's aunt who is ill goes south and Susan stays with friends. She does not get Bob's message.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVI

SUSAN did not sleep at all the night after the shooting. She lay tense and shivering, wondering what would happen on the morrow. Each time she closed her eyes she could see that horrible scene again. Ben with the gun raised in the air, firing at Heath and then at himself. How could she have dreamed that jealousy would drive Ben to such lengths! What if the newspapers should hear of the affair? Heath's position and hers would lend themselves to vivid headlines. No, she would not even think of such a thing. Heath had assured her the matter would be hushed up. But what if Ben died? It would be difficult keeping that quiet. The whole wretched story would be blazoned before the world.

"I mustn't let Aunt Jessie know," Susan said to herself. "She must leave in the morning without finding out anything about it." Somehow the girl arrayed her shattered faces. She lashed herself into a state of calm so that the older woman suspected nothing. Grumbling a little, but well pleased on the whole, the invalid allowed herself to be stowed away in a drawing room with the crisp nurse. The train men began to give warning and Susan kissed the thin cheek, feeling a rush of emotion.

"You be good now!" she admonished. "Do just as you're told and you'll be fat and sassy in no time at all." Aunt Jessie promised with unexpected meekness.

"I feel easy about you as long as you're staying with the Miltons," she said.

Susan dashed to the platform, stepping off just before the train began to move. She ran after it, waving for a minute or two. Then suddenly it dwindled into a mere speck along the track. She felt forlorn.

She was quite alone now. Was it or was it not a bad omen that the expected telephone call had failed to come through before she left the house? She felt now that she could not possibly wait to know of Ben's condition until returning home. She stopped at a pay station and called the number of Heath's club. After a long wait during which her heart palpitated frighteningly she heard his voice.

"How is he?" she asked fearfully.

"He had a bad night," Heath told her, "and he's running a high fever, but Blake says it's not alarming and you're not to worry."

"Where are they keeping him?" Susan wanted to know. Heath mentioned the name of a small, private hospital.

"It's going to be all right," he told her cautiously. "There's no need to worry. Blake has fixed everything."

SWEDISH LIQUOR CONTROL SYSTEM FOR U. S. URGED

Minister To Sweden Recommends System To Sen. Committee

Washington, May 10—(AP)—Modification of the 18th amendment to permit a form of state liquor control similar to the Bratt system now in force in Sweden was recommended today to a Senate Judiciary subcommittee.

John M. Morehead, Minister to Sweden, advanced the plan. He said a thorough study of the 15 years operation of the Bratt system since his appointment to the post in 1910 had convinced him it was satisfactory and successful.

"Not since slavery," he said, "has there been so vital a question before the country as that of prohibition. In spite of the many benefits which it has unquestionably conferred upon us, the unforeseen evils which have followed in its wake now constitute our greatest social problem."

Morehead appeared with consent of the State Department. A considerable time ago he laid his views before the Wickersham Commission, but the Department objected to his appearance before any committee. The Senate group took the question up and succeeded in having the objection withdrawn.

To make possible adoption of the Swedish system here, Morehead recommended another amendment to the Constitution, permitting states wishing to license liquor to do so through legislation, and permitting dry states to remain that way.

The Minister labeled unwise or impossible all proposals for nullification of the liquor laws, repeal of the 18th amendment and modification of the Volstead act. He also contended that satisfactory enforcement of the present liquor laws was virtually impossible.

Uncle Sam to Aid These Mountain Folk, Living Primitively in Isolated Community

Here are some pictures that show one-half of the world how the other half lives. But perhaps you wouldn't call it "living" if your home was the tumble-down log shack shown upper left, that is the residence of Sam Corbin and his family in "Corbin's Hollow," in the Blue Ridge Mountains. In this section less than a dozen miles from President Hoover's camp at Rapidan, Va., 49 persons live in the primitive circumstances pictured here—conditions which government officials now intend to remedy. Illiterate, ill-fed and speaking the almost non-understandable dialect of the mountaineers, Bessie, John and Daniel Corbin were shy of the cameraman's big black box, and are shown upper right as they peered timidly around a corner of their cabin. Six families huddled in rags in their squalid huts and 2-year-old Daniel Corbin—as seen lower right when he posed with two of his sisters—had been tied with a rope to keep him from straying. Lower left you see Mrs. Sam Corbin preparing on a crude, ancient stove, her family's evening meal. The plight of the mountaineers was revealed when Secretary of the Interior Wilbur visited their community during a survey of a new national park.

ROCHELLE NEWS

By Arthur T. Guest

Rochelle—A keen loss to the community was felt in the passing of Fred W. Craft, who died early Saturday morning. He was an active business man for over 30 years, a civic leader, an ardent fraternal member, and a quiet, simple-living and loyal friend. While the deceased had not been in the best of health for a year, his last illness was of short duration and he slipped from life quietly and peacefully.

Frederick William Craft, was born in Morristown, N. J., October 3, 1866, and died at his home, 622 Seventh St., Rochelle Ill., on May 7th, 1932, aged 65 years. He was the son of Joseph Wy-craft and Martha Garretson Craft. His parents and a brother, John, of Chicago, all preceded him in death.

When a child he came to Rochelle with his parents and here he grew to manhood and was graduated from the Rochelle high school in the Class of 1883. On December 21, 1891, he was united in marriage to a classmate, Ida May Countryman, and to this union was born one son, John Countryman Craft.

The deceased was actively identified with Rochelle's business life for over thirty years managing the late M. J. Braden's interests in lumber, fuel and ice. Mr. Craft was the first president of the Rochelle Chamber of Commerce and served as a member of the School Board of District 131 for 12 years. Several years of this term was as president, and during the period, the Lincoln School was erected. He also served for many years as a Library Trustee and was a member of the board at the time of his death. The new library building was built during his term of service.

He leaves to mourn the loss of a faithful and devoted husband, and father, his wife, and one son, John.

He was a faithful member of the First Presbyterian church of Rochelle and enjoyed his fraternal associations. He has filled all the offices in Horicon Lodge, No. 244, A. F. and A. M. of which he became a member August 15, 1905, serving as Worshipful Master for two years. Mr. Craft was also a member of Sycamore Commandery No. 15, Knights Templar, and Tebala Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S.

Everything he did was done quietly and in simplicity feeling that the great things of life were the simple things. Mr. Craft was always interested in the better things of life, and was an ardent admirer of nature's beauties and was a great lover of books. He was never too busy to do a kindness for a friend and he would earnestly desire that his life should be his obituary.

Impressive funeral services were held from the home Monday afternoon, May 9th, at 2 o'clock. Dr. Earl P. Zeigler of Chicago officiated, assisted by Rev. F. A. Campbell, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

Masonic services were held at the grave at Lawn Ridge cemetery and past masters of Horicon Lodge acted as pall bearers.

VITAMIN SOURCES

Thus far the existence of the six vitamins has been demonstrated. Some of these, like vitamin B, are known to be composed of two or more fractions. The six known vitamins are:

Vitamin A, also known as anti-rachitic and antiphthalmic. These names are derived from the disease conditions definitely known to result from a lack of the vitamin. Vitamin B has two fractions—B1, sometimes also called vitamin F, or anti-uric, and B2, sometimes called vitamin G, or antipellagric.

Vitamin C, antiscorbutic vitamin D antirachitic; vitamin E, antisterility.

Vitamin A is derived from milk, butter, cream, cheese cod liver oil, egg yolk, fish liver oil liver kidney and roe, as well as from carrots, cabbage, collards, lettuce, spinach, tomatoes and turnip greens.

Vitamin B consisting of fraction B1 and B2, is found in cereals, particularly those not subjected to extensive milling or refining, in milk, in green leafy vegetables, eggs.

Wheat germ is particularly rich in vitamin B1 and B2. Vitamin B is destroyed by the addition of soda in cooking. B1 is destroyed by heat.

Vitamin C is found in the citrus fruits, grape fruit and in pineapple, raspberries, strawberries, cabbage, onions, fresh peas and spinach.

Cereals, meat and milk contain vitamin.

Vitamin D is the only vitamin which we can produce chemically by irradiating ergosterol.

This vitamin is found in cod liver oils in small amounts and in meats, milk and cream.

DO YOU INHALE?

Why are other cigarettes silent on this vital question?

Do you inhale? Seven out of ten people know they do. The other three inhale without realizing it. Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Or 'y Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Remember—more than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.

Do you inhale? Of course you do! So be careful. Safeguard your delicate membranes!
